Community Supported Agriculture

For the first time, Berger Nursery & Garden will be offering CSA shares to local homes. Community Supported Agriculture is a direct link between local farms and the surrounding community, where members support a farm by helping pay for seeds, fertilizer, irrigation, farm equipment and labor. In return, the farm offers a share of the harvest throughout the growing season.

Berger Nursery & Garden has been in operation since 1978, but our growing passion has lead us to focus primarily on vegetables. Each year we try to expand our range of crops, and through community support we hope to continue growing.

Enrollment for this first time CSA venture will be limited to the first 20 members to register. Members of the Family Share will receive a grocery bag of veggies each week for 14 weeks from roughly the end of June through the end of September. Please note, our harvest and crop selection is always dependent on the growing season and will vary each week. No refunds or partial refunds will be offered, except in extreme circumstances.

Produce we currently grow includes: greens (lettuce, swiss chard, kale, collards, bok choy, cabbage, broccoli), tomatoes of over a dozen varieties (slicing, canning, heirloom, cherry), beans/peas (green beans, wax beans, snap peas), peppers (bell, frying, hot), corn, garlic & onions, eggplant, okra, pickles & cucumbers, scallions, squash (acorn, butternut, delicata, spaghetti, zucchini, yellow squash), carrots, turnips, beets, radishes, watermelons, and herbs (basil, oregano, dill, parsley, lemongrass, thyme.)
